Yeah really chronojam... There are too many PAGES in this topic that don't have the word Iraq in them. We have Dave and Cowmisfit just bitching back and forth about every fucking facet of religion. Earlier we had Cowmisfit and Dave rambling back and forth at each other about bisexuality and immaturity... Why don't you two just go make a topic "DaveGMM and Cowmisfit hate each other". Then you two can go to town without being bothered by any pesky topics of any importance.

I think this is an awesome step though with the voting and all. I think we've shown them that voting isn't so bad. They can choose however they want without having their family killed during the night. Maybe we'll get some good word of mouth and other countries will want us to come install them with Digital Cable. I mean democracy. lol

Also did anyone here about the Primeminister of Georgia? He was killed. Found gassed to death in a friends flat. Isn't that surprising? I wonder if they'll figure out if it was an accident or a more sinister act cause Georgia is another big topic when it comes to terrorism.
