Without snipers they wouldn't be too bad. the problem is how easily they are hit whilst being slow on maneuver and no ability to strafe away from the fire. the ctrl + direction strafe is a joke, it doesn't help you at all.

there's also the issue that no good players buy them so whenever somebody does, it's usually a n00b who doesn't understand basic survival techniques and does the classic 'fly high in the air and get shot at' thing.

i don't think giving them weapons would help because they can only shoot from the sides and in one direction with no aiming.
