I am feeling the love on this thread. The crowd stands and applauds the help here.

I don't think it would be right to give out someones email though even if they did have it. You could be a stalker or something. "giggle"

Question; if this was a good friend, you didn't have his email already or have him on MSN, AIM, or Yahoo?

Suggestion; check common Renegade forums like this one and others and see if he is a member. (I am on at least 10 different ones) If so, you can PM him and he is for sure to get an email if he has notify on like most of us.
