I had an even shittier system, I know all about this. Windowed mode, yet again, DOES NOT IMPROVE YOUR FPS, even with older systems. I used to play Renegade in windowed mode all the time, trust me. Texture replacements only noticeably slow the game down if your system has a crap CPU. And trust me, updating drivers is one of the first thing people ever try to fix problems.

ok. My only minor problem with that statement is that i got an extra 30 - 40 fps using windowed mode.

I always have vysnc set to off in my advanced options, so vsync should have been off for both full screen and windowed mode.

Where did the extra 30 - 40 fps come from?

Im not trying to be clever here im really interested to know what ive missed.
