CrimsonYeah, wireless for online gaming is BAD, unless it's 802.11g.

Which is what I have, and she's right. There is no noticeable difference if you use Wireless-G.
The only thing that DOES suck is if your neighbor has it too and they conflict all the time.

You don't need windowed mode unless you use it to be able to see instant messages and mIRC.
If you use it only to force vsync off, just turn it off in your ATI driver settings and then switch back to full mode.
