Aircraftkiller Most people from 1900 to 1960 thought it was appropriate to call black people n1ggers. Just because they found it appropriate, does that mean it was? Not to me, but someone like you was defending the usage of that word back then, because everyone else did it... and obviously a group of people must be right.

You're right. We should stop calling textures skins, since a texture might be offended by our racist remarks.
