No one here is going to be so stupid as to come out with a map with the same name as one that 's stealing, it is building or creating from basic scratch, I've added my own models to the base that different version of some of the unfinished maps that Westwood allowed anyone to have access too. A lot of their maps are already out with AI versions added or no flying etc. So what if Ack has the actual GmaX files. that would be nice to have , but then, I would of made it different all together. But with what I have and my artistic talents, am going to be releasing my map
