CrimsonStuff done to amuse others doesn't make my brother and his friends "stupid". You really need to lighten up. As you can see in the movie, the other people in the restaurant were enjoying the performance, too.

Yeah when people 10 times the size of me came up to me and my friends when we were having a good personal game, and interfer with our fun, i would smile like that too. Doesnt mean i enjoyed it.

People dont goto those places to have a bunch of guys come over to them and hit their puck around. Maybe if you saw it from the outside you would understand. Everyone around you is saying "Who raised these people?", "Why do they think that is appropriate?".
