AuroraX0Also, I like how the round case ejection port is on the wrong side of the gun, This must be because all you masocistic Reborn players love being hit in the side of the face by shell casings when you fire your weapons.

This doesn't justify it and by no means is a defence of Reborn, but lots of games put the ejection port on the wrong side of the gun simply so they can have the 'cool shell casins flying in your face effect' going.

Example? M4A1 and AK47 and other guns in CSS, all of which have been somehow mirrored.

I think it's done just so that people can see the cool effect or something.
