Not only barracks on flying maps but Nod's Hand of Nod (HON in short for those new peoples) must be mined from the inside. I constantly find people mining only the doors when the ramps on either side of the building are useful to climb up and through a window. Another word of advice for the noobs out there is to not over-mine or mine in some very stupid places. I have countless (6 or 7) stories of noobs who cannot mine or mine in wrong areas, causing a loss to a team.
