Turns out that Command & Conquer is now freeware meaning that anyone who doesn't have it can now download it.

For those who aren't convinced:

Quote:

We had a serious check before adding this game, and all our research indicates that the game is indeed abandoned.

1. Westwood (or rather eagames) have stopped selling it.
2. The support for the game shows a dead link.
3. HOTU doesn't have a BUY-link for it.
4. The game is not on the TUOL Warez list.
5. Sold Out Software (who owns the sell out rights for the C&C series) doesn't sell it.

So.... YAY!

It's been a bit striped down to reduce the size (i.e. no video clips, music or some sounds and only runs in DOS mode I think. But it'll be good enough for people who want to try it. I think you need to use DOSBox but I don't know.
