Pretty much a ton or all of the people here in the forums hate my site and say it's crappy. I thought it was nice and still do. But, since thats the case heres what im going to do about it.

- Create a nice clean organized template from scratch
- no loadbars
- stick with one color scheme
- and hope people will like it.

it will be the same website name. I expect to finish all this before the end of my spring break.

If anyone has any idea's and not rude remarks, please let me know.
