Ok... First it needs to be framed batter. the text in the middle just looks cramped. i would go with some sort of rusted metal motif with flecked red pain. This is because I like Nod. i suppose you could go with a yellow one. Templates arent all that hard to come by.

This is if you have photoshop and can use it.
If you need tutorials go here.

If you are just starting out with photoshop go here.
Janee has everything you need. Do the tutorials in the order she recommends at the bottom.

Then you need a banner. One that isn't pixlated. These are not hard to make. It just takes a little imagination.

For a banner try Red scorpion on one side. Black back ground, Picture of kane on the other. Use a soft eraser or mask to mix them together, then have renegade or command and conquer printed in the middle with a nice text effect. make a simple boarder.
 Then a simple black back ground for the rest with do ya fine.

A simple presentation is what you need. For the time being anyway.

This might not help you, but I figure i might as well try and help. Feel free to flame if this isnt a very good idea or i'm just plane wrong.
