
Subject: Tribute to Terry Shiavo
Posted by cheesesoda on Fri, 01 Apr 2005 01:36:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

There never were any hard feelings.

I'm opinionated. I'm not going to keep my mouth shut for the sake of not looking like a fool. The people on these forums have no bearing on my life, so I honestly don't give a fuck at what they think of me. Some agree with me on most (if not all) issues, while others will always disagree with me, and some may go about 50/50. Some think I'm an idiot, some don't. None of these people, whether or not they agree with me or think of me as an idiot, affect me in my actions, except for the ones that I am in contact with outside of these forums. That number is only about 10, so it's quite a small fraction.

That point was meant to be ridiculous, though. It wasn't meant to be an insult towards SFE at all incase anybody thought different.
