This may have already been brought up, but there's a visual glitch on City Flying. When you're in the Obelisk (or close to it) the Airstrip door looks open when it's not.

This is actually a gameplay issue (if not a particular major one) since every time I see the strip door open I think "crap, did a hotwire get in?"