So..

Er...

You told him to flood them (an experiance I used to have)...

And then you got "hacked" (Let's all be clear. You didn't get hacked, your password was aqquired. BIG difference).

I don't see why you should get ANY sympathy here. You've basically gone "We did something wrong first, yeah, but THEY DID SOMETHING WRONG SECOND! YEAH! PUNISH HIM FOR... er.. OUR MISTAKES!"

Woo. Yeah. You go tell people to flood some more. See if that makes you feel better.
