Scorpio9aYes, its possible to hack RenGuard, thats something we won't deny, but it takes quiet alot of time to do so. And most simply aren't bothered or simply can't do it.

Kanezor its a bit more complex to do then you think, but the basic outline seems to be pretty good yes and you aren't far from how i would do it.I know very well how complex it would be, I've done such things on old Macs several times. It was a fair bit easier for me there, because I knew where to get the information I needed, such as the PEF format (PEF is to Mac as EXE is to Windows). As such, I had written my own tools to do what I needed.

If I had the proper tools and information for Windows, I would be willing to do it, just to prove that it could be done.

I'm not saying that I would actually use an anti-anti-hack, though. I myself hate cheaters.
