

---

Subject: Gmail GONE WILD!

Posted by Kanezor on Tue, 05 Apr 2005 21:58:42 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Not only could they be counting on people not using their whole disk space, but they can also count on saving disk space when one Gmail person emails a file to another Gmail person. Instead of having 2x that file, they could simply increment the reference count and reference that file only once, but increase the disk usage for both users.

When you start emailing a movie to twenty people, it would really save some disk space doing it that way.

---