*In reference to your first template*

I'm likin it, you might want to spice up the modules a bit though (I think that's what they're called), they seem a tad bit dreary. Also, experiment with background color and module color, cuz just black might not look to good from a user point of view, depending on how the layout is sized up. Other than that, just work on some of the colors, the wires (as said earlier), maybe add some kind of opaque texture to it. Pretty good overall

And just because I actually made a post, I must note that the 'arctic' thing in glyde's siggy looks like people having sex. haha.
