There is really absolutely no reason for the serials anyway. All it does is piss off there customers there free why hassle your self to distribute them if you didnt actually need them in the first place.....

.....Well i went to EA's Support system and this is what I got not for the letter above but for asking about serial numbers.....

Greetings,

Thank you for contacting Electronic Arts.

We are currently working to resolve this issue with the Renegade FDS server. At the moment we do not have serial numbers to send out - if you continue to get the error message in a few days please respond to this email and we will look for a way to resolve the issue.
