software that I also received for free

So... if you broke into a supermarket, and stole a frozen chicken, so it didn't cost you anything...

that would be OK too?

He's saying since Commando is free, the maps and everything in it is free, thus he can edit anything there and say it's his...

That would be like saying, it's wrong to steal from an amusement park that you have to pay to get in, but there's nothing wrong with stealing from an amusement park that's free to get in.
