

---

Subject: New Nvidia Video Drivers

Posted by icedog90 on Fri, 22 Apr 2005 19:42:39 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Opalkillaicedog90OpalkillaYour facts are correct. ATI cards do run better on HL2 & CS:S. The new drivers just suck, I would stay with the default ones.

If you're talking about sticking with Windows default drivers, then that is not a good idea. When I install the latest drivers over the default ones, I get around a 30 FPS increase and no more artifacts.

I was talking about the drivers that come with the card. I'm just sticking with those because I had a bad history with updating the drivers.

That I also meant. Upgrading from those drivers or the Windows default drivers is a huge increase in FPS overall.

---