Ya, you just started learning, but IMO ditch those frames. If done incorrectly(wich is very easy to do) then frames arent a good thing to implement in your site. The Best route I think for you to take is to obtain Dreamweaver Somehow and learn how to use it. I don't use anything else now and its extremely user friendly. All you need to know is how HTML works(and im sure you know alot about what certain tags do) and you'll be fine.
