dont make this into a personal attack against you. I never said this applied to you. I said certain people on the boards...which no one can honestfully deny.

Just because I dont support military action...doesn't mean I'm against it. I'm sick of this "you're either with us or against us" crap which I could piss out better quotes and mottos than that. I'd hate to break it to you...but there are shades of grey in such matters...
