
Subject: Too Young?

Posted by 2000_years on Wed, 27 Apr 2005 10:38:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Used to get plastered regularly when I was 16- early 18, (legal age here is 18) but I've cut down a lot now. I don't like the feeling of being incapable as much, and the hangovers suck. Now I'll just go for a drink at the pub once a while (usually once a fortnight) and never more than three pints.

It isn't really that fun, getting totally wankered, only to wake up the next day remembering nothing, with a huge headache and not being able to eat.

Never touched pot either, know a few friends who used to take it who have now given up on it. The others I used to speak to have all quit College/Uni and have part-time jobs to pay for the stuff. (no cars, no anything else, just weed)
