msgtpainMan, when one person's opinion becomes an apparent consensus and a need for a public affirmation, a nerve must have been struck somewhere, lol. You do know that it would be much easier on you to simply ask ACK to stop posting the off topic threads, and asking everyone else to stop posting off topic responses to ACK's off topic posts, but if this is an easier way out of having to do that, I'll play along.

Censor away, won't bother me one bit.

Umm, public affirmation? Since when have I cared whether or not people agreed with what I do?

This is just a chance to see which way you people wanted it to go. However, if that is too much for people to do, then it can end here.
