

---

Subject: Email virus

Posted by General Havoc on Thu, 17 Apr 2003 22:32:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yeah your PC should be safe then if you didn't open it. I directing that part to Stonerook as it looks like his PC is infected as you received an email from him. Some email viruses are pretty bad too. One of them spread itself over a LAN too to non internet accessing PC's and that was the one that loads it into memory so i had to disconnect each PC from the LAN to stop it spawning on the other PC's. This paticular one attached itself to a windows system file meaing you needed some program to remove it without screwing up windows.

---