Punctuation please or hi mom look out for where is the today is Thursday.

But guys, I gave up on clans long before they became unpopular. I never saw the point in them. I do see the point in clans for game types such as MMORPGs though.

I'm sorry I do not meet your expectations instructor. I swear that i'll have my report done by the end of this week! Please... If this was a report due for school I'd check my writing and I'd give a damn because that would be the difference between a good grade and a bad grade. So hopefully you can manage reading without a few commas and mistakes that anyone makes..

@this topic - you really can't hardly base the whole of clans from one clan. There are many clans out there who strongly appose to cheating and such. Some include only just for playing the game without funwars or clanwars. as well as there are clans that soley play just for those clanwars because that's the only fun they get out of this game.
