When editing a mission map to play online is it unsafe to use the newer scripts like JFW_Character_buy because when i use these scripts i tried using a computer which has an older version of scripts and it works fine. But sometimes ile just loose people when im playing online as if there game crashed. And just today i was playing with 11 players and i lost every body at the same time exept for me and the computer im networked to. What causes peoples game to crash when in my game playing m03? THX for any help.:}
