Spoonyj_ball430Also, that homeless man is, well, homeless, and he's trying to sue for being insulted? Come the fuck on, he's probably been ridiculed his whole life by random strangers. He's only doing this because it is in the public eye, and the politician has money. Both of these men are idiots.

Where do you infer that he's suing?

And did you skip the part where he was offered a holiday, a stay in an expensive hotel, or money... and he refused?

Well, I don't see how insulting someone is an illegal act.

I don't care what he was offered.
