You have got to be the stupidest person on this planet!

Out of all of that crap, one thing caught my eye:

But in reality, Rumsfeld, Vice President Dick Cheney, and a small band of conservative ideologues had begun making the case for an American invasion of Iraq as early as 1997 - nearly four years before the Sept. 11 attacks and three years before President Bush took office.

I see this as a good thing, it shows that there were a few politicians that were thinking ahead, especially since Saddam was supposed to be disarming since 1991. Clinton and his cronies did absolutely nothing to stop or even slow Saddam's disarming. And don't try to tell me that Clinton having the military attack a few targets in Iraq, and enforcing the no-fly zone is anything but "wag the dog" during his questionable activities while in office.

You sir, are an idiot!
