well fcking hell.

sure is a quick way to judge someone, I mean a few lines of post, you must know someone from just that. your post did look very stupid reviving a 5 month old thread....you should have posted a new topic, your question had nothing to do with what the original thread was about and your quote was a fragment.

here, just to shut you up:

download the XCC mixer, use it to browse westwood\renegade\data\always.dat, and look through every sound there if you need to.....you will find the file eventually...hard workers never quit, so if you post again whining, you haven't worked hard enough to find the sound.
