If it were done without people n00b voting it, I'd have no problems. You got found out, and now it's suddenly my fault that your clan can't win a vote without n00b voting.

there were no "n00b" voting. he did not take away their free will and turned them into zombies that follows his every word. instead he suggested that they voted for a map just the same way that you could have done if you had wanted to. but as long as all these people are not zombies. they can choose what map to vote for, and that makes sure that this is infact not a "n00b" voting
