sorry for the bad spelling, a was eating tacos for dinner when i typed my first post.

now whats this cyberprik? for the record i have no idea what you are talkng about, i have been anti-cheat forever so i would not want to bypass rg. let me tell you my life story. renegade was not the first c&c game i play. i used to play and still do play ra2. i am famouse for my ra2 maps and the anger i like to take out on people when they cheat or use france. i have never cheated in anygame ever and never tried to. i just started playing renegade several months ago. im a really big noob.(but im not bad enough to even think about cheating) actually i have gotten pretty good and hope to get better. anyway like i said before i went out for lunch yesterday left my PC on when i got back it was frozen up and the app.. for renegade and renguard were closed i went to start the game up again and i constantly got disconnected until i got that ban message the 1000th time i tried to connect. i am not lying to you. please take into consideration that i am trustworty and everbody i know knows this. and i dont have a damn clue about this cyberprik or whatever, all i do know it would be nice for me to get back on.
