

---

Subject: Rap Discussion

Posted by cheesesoda on Sat, 28 May 2005 18:40:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Don't play these semantics with me. You know damn well what I mean by manufactured, Kirby. Most of their music now isn't really how they feel. Most of it is to get profit. It's "manufactured" to what the people want and will buy.

I never said making money is bad, but music isn't supposed to be about profit. Once you do that, you've just given money-hungry twits the ambition to flood the market with their bullshit to make a quick buck. Also, I'm not talking just about rap either. Most of rock is the same way. MTV can be blamed as a cause for this. Everything now sounds the same.

---