

---

Subject: Ownage

Posted by U927 on Sat, 28 May 2005 22:13:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Mosh pits, anyone?

I've yet to go to a concert, but I'm dying to go to one. As for Lynyrd Skynyrd:

I HATE YOU. PLEASE DIE. I WANT TO SEE THEM SO BADLY.

Now to the topic of rap:

Rap isn't real music. That's right, it is NOTHING like real music. Real music doesn't need 150 profanities in a song to sell a lot of records. Real music doesn't need the vivid descriptions of murder and rape to fill out concerts. Real music doesn't glorify alcohol, marijuana, cocaine, and ecstasy in its songs. Real music doesn't have butchered English, which is then imprinted on today's youth to make them dumber than ever.

Rap is not real music. The sooner people realize this, the sooner humanity will rise of its current stupidity.

---