rm5248Well.... There is this gian island off of the coast of Africa that's falling apart... When part of this island breaks off sometime in the near future, a giant tidal wave will be created.

Yes, it would create a 'mega tsunami' that would for the most part demolish the eastern part of the USA, and maybe part of Atlantic Canada. The wave would supposedly stay together for up to 10 or more miles inland.

I think they've been blowing off pieces of that island over the last little while though.
