i agree with the people who say the medium tank IS the tank, people who say that mammy tanks are better at attacking and killing infantry only have half the story, a few ravesaws can take out a mammy quickly, and if the infantry is almost touching the tank its almost impossible to kill the man until he has laid c4 and done considerable damage, with medium tanks maneuverability it can run over close range infantry and escape long range. Mammys are also bullet magnets when i was attacking the tiberian refinery at Islands map once 3 flame infantry were shootin me from behind before i could kill them i had lost considerable damage, a similar sinario at mesa when i was driving a medium i ran over the infantry True 2 mammys with engi. r a better defence than more mediums They are ALMOST always useless in rushes they are only good in rushes if your teammates already have a strong hold in the enemys base. My opinion
