I don't understand how the Nasa quote is suspect at all. It's the National AERONAUTICS and Space Association. They have been doing a lot of research into ramjets and solar aircraft. They have not done as much in regards to space lately.

For the FDA, Food is still a priority. It's identical to that. What do you hear the FDA always talking about now a days? Drugs. ED cures and Blood Pressure medicine and weight loss medicine. They still care about the food aspect, they aren't going to let it go to shit. Neither will Nasa forget where space is.
