

---

Subject: Re: OT: Evolution vs Creationism

Posted by Doitle on Wed, 08 Jun 2005 22:00:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

No the energy comes from superconducting electromagnets which are probably millions of times as powerful as a lightning bolt. lol Supercolliders are absolutely ridiculous. I wouldn't be surprised if one day just the Earth lost a big bite out of it because of an accident at one. and the chunk just floated off and the people on it were like... "Oh Shi brb".

I do see your point though. You aren't saying we can't create lightning, your saying the experiment was conducted with less than lightning right?

---