I know... how stupid. I've turned on my video camera with the lens cap on, or put a camera up to my eye with the lens cap on... big deal. You know someone is pathetic when they think anyone who's smart enough to win the US presidency is too stupid to take the lens caps off of binoculars. Smart enough to put matching clothes on in the morning, too stupid to notice that everything through the binoculars is black? You're beyond retarded if you honestly think that.

(I could make a joke about black and DC, but I won't)
