AircraftkillerBe aware I wouldn't credit you for doing this, as Blazer and I have stayed up more than once each night trying to figure out different ways of doing this without altering the strings database.

and why wouldn't you? If this method is working - and he is posting his results for all to share - you should be obliged to give credit... if you use it...

no matter how much time you spent on your own trying to do it...

I haven't seen something come from you that does this...

If i'm understanding what your trying to say that is.

You say you "tried" -- he say's he's done it...

why wouldn't you credit him?
