Well, as Vitaminous (he's actually good at web design, other than that... meh) and I agreed upon last time, you have too little content space. If you're going to have 3 columns, my suggestion is to widen the width of the site, either that or go to 2 columns and shorten the width of the navigation. The text is too big and it makes that column bigger than it needs to be. I'm on 1280 x 1024 and I can read it just fine, so you can definetely shrink it. Also, if you haven't already noticed, your rollovers don't work like they should. You still have your old rollover images uploaded.
