Quote:That's if you consider flipping meat on a shit-burner a "decent job".

Just a couple of things you can do with a High School Diploma:

If you're bilingual: A translator at a court. I forget how much it pays, but its way more than what the average teacher gets paid in New York City, and it's only a five hour or so a day job.

For everyone: Programmer. I know, it's boring to most people. But guess what? It pays good and you don't need a college deegree. This applies to most areas of computer related stuff too. As long as you know how to do it, you don't need a college deegree.

Also, being a garbage man is a "shitty" decent job. Not that I would consider it but, $60,000 a year for picking garbage here and there isn't something a "poor" person would pass up, and it sure beats the hell out of burgerking.

There are endless careers one can consider with only a High School diploma, but I'm not listing every one of them.

EDIT: And if you're talented well um...yeah.
