JPNOD wrote on Fri, 17 June 2005 15:44ummm, back in the days you could do netstat -o ore -n cmd

and the address would pop up (this counts for msn)

but now it filters through a server so its not possible anymore as far as i know. For Aim i think it kinda works the same. Try sending a file ore let the person send a file you want the IP from. And do netstat -o netstat -n see if it works.

To get IP's you still can use that , direct connect with the person then enter netstat and go find which IP you don't recognize
