

---

Subject: Re: question

Posted by Dr. Lithius on Tue, 28 Jun 2005 02:21:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

All sarcasm and snideness aside, yes, I was being quite serious. The only thing you can do is find, buy, or otherwise obtain a new Renegade serial number -- preferably one that isn't already blacklisted(IE ones from Warez and the sort) -- and create a new account. Make sure that you don't use your old name, however. Renguard and Blackhand Studios not only blacklist the serial numbers, but the nicknames they're attached to on Westwood Online or Gamespy Arcade. All this aside, keep in mind that if you make the same mistakes that lead you to be banned in the first place, you will once again be banned. Of course that goes without saying, but still. . . And finally, correct me if I'm wrong, but considering Crimson himself made this suggestion in another topic I recall reading, this does not violate Renguard rules and regulations, written or unwritten, and therefore, is not a punishable offense. I believe it falls under the category of . . ."Making someone pay for a new copy of Renegade just so they can play on Renguarded servers is punishment enough." Or something. But don't quote anyone but me on that. Being a random game player, I speak only for myself, and not for Blackhand Studios, associates, affiliates, or even fans there-of and there-in.

So. . .yeah. I've babbled enough.

---