This is a common problem that should be addressed in an FAQ somewhere. Simply put, if you're running your server on the same IP -- or in a Local Area Network -- that you're trying to connect from, your BRenBot doesn't read you as running RenGuard. Why? I don't quite recall the technical explanation. Search the forums.

As for it kicking others who are running RenGuard, do you know for a fact they are? Unless you goofed something up, that shouldn't even be a problem with other people, unless they're in the same LAN you are.
