

---

Subject: Re: You might be a noob if...

Posted by Lijitsu on Sat, 16 Jul 2005 04:39:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

FoxURA wrote on Mon, 02 May 2005 20:17FoxURA

5. If you think shooting at the same spot in an open field with an arty for over 30 minutes non-stop will do anything, you might be a noob.

There was some misunderstanding about this so I will explain the event behind this example.

I was up on a cliff taking aim with a Deadeye at an experienced Sakura who had been picking off my team mates (even when they were running) and all of a sudden a GDI soldier came in behind me, opened fire, and instantly made the Sakura aware of my position forcing me to take cover and missing my opportunity for another head shot.

Just to let noobs know... At long ranges in any game and in real life, the best anti-snipers are other snipers, not basic infantry firing at a target almost outside their weapons maximum range. No, but coming the other way when the Sniper is being attacked, its pretty damn good.

---