if you knew of security breaches in RG you should have sent your concerns in a PM to an RG developer, so any potential exploiters of those holes would not see them.

I think the answer to this whole topic is, as goztow said, think about how your post could be interpreted before you post it.

EDIT: I have also seen an ss of someone using bh with rg on, but I suspect the ss was edited to look like someone had hacked RG, which was why I didnt forward it to the RG team.
