If you have an nVidia card, you'll want to download nvRefresh Tool at http://www.majorgeeks.com/download.php?det=1457 to increase your refresh rate in-game to 85 which will also move your FPS's maximum to 85.

Or better yet, just disable vertical sync and your FPS reaches its actual maximum (usually above 100 if your computer doesn't suck). However, it's impossible to notice the difference, so the only point in doing that is to show off to your friends, which is also completely useless.
